

I have worked in the Primary for about thirty years and have been organist and chorister in every organization in the Church. I have thirty-eight years in visiting teaching. When I was much younger, I wrote some roadshows which were very successful.

When my husband died, I was living with my son, and the mobile home next to him came up for sale. I bought it, and that's how I have ended up in Heber. I love it here more all the time, and the people are wonderful to me.

FITZGERALD, Clark F. and Jeanne Shelton

Clark was born to Benjamin Athel and Luella Bonner Fitzgerald on February 2, 1939, in Heber City, Utah the youngest of seven children — five boys and two girls — Bonner, Frank, (deceased), Don, Re'Nee, Lou Anna, Mont and Clark. He spent a lot of time while growing up at his parents' ranch in Woodland, Utah. His father, being a successful sheepman, moved his family to the ranch in the summer time, where they could all work together and be closer to the summer range, for the sheep. There they learned the value of hard work and togetherness as a family. These were happy times for Clark.

He remembers one special Christmas where, under the tree, there was a note with his name, and a long string attached to it. He followed the string which led him outdoors, and to a tree where he found a horse of his very own. What a Merry Christmas!

Clark was just 12 years old when his father passed away, leaving his loving wife and family. Luella, being a strong, wise, independent person that she is, kept her faith and continued to raise her family. She encouraged a feeling of closeness with one another, and always encouraged them to help each other. With all the brothers being sheepmen this has been an advantage to have the kind of extra help they need during busy times.

Clark served his country for two years in the Army. He, too, is a successful sheepman. He married the former Jeanne Shelton, daughter of Charles Albert and Maud Ella Watson Shelton. She is the youngest of nine children; Anita, Beth, Charles, Grant, Mary Lou, (deceased), Vaun, Ann, David, and Jeanne, born Sept. 7, 1940. She was reared in Daniel, and has pleasant memories of her childhood. She appreciates being born to loving parents and to a large family.

She and Clark are the parents of five children. Matt was born November 21, 1958; Trudy on October 14, 1961; Shelly, November 26, 1962; Todd J. on December 28, 1963 (deceased at 2½ days old); and Benjamin A. Fitzgerald on May 31, 1971.

They lived in Woodland, after being married, on the ranch along the Provo River. Living on the ranch was a pleasant time, away from the busy life of a city, and was a peaceful place to raise a family. The children had the opportunity to be with nature, and learn to love and work with the sheep. They have raised many "bummer" lambs, and helped with corralling the sheep and many other chores.

They spent time on the desert with Clark in winter time, in the sheep camp, and with the sheep. This provided plenty of time for togetherness, and they learned to make their own fun. The children have grown close through these experiences.

Clark and Jeanne purchased a home and moved to Heber in December 1964, where special schooling was available for Matt. He attends a workshop for the handicapped when he isn't helping his family with the sheep. He has brought many blessings to his family, and they love him.

Trudy married DeLoy Bisel in the Salt Lake Temple, and they are parents of a daughter, Beau Dee, and a son, Cole C. We love them very much.

Shelly married Jed Olsen in the Provo Temple, and built a new home next door to her parents. Clark and Jeanne feel that this is a blessing for them.

Ben earned his Eagle Scout award in October, 1985, is active in wrestling and football at Wasatch High, and is vice-president of the F.F.A. for the coming school year. He is a joy to his family, and we all enjoy supporting him in his activities.

They are thankful for their family, and appreciate the close bond that is shared.
